

Andrew Busch intro

Andrew Busch is the former 1st Chief Market Intelligence Officer for the US government and economic futurist at AndrewBusch.com. For the CFTC, he was charged with improving and enhancing the government's understanding of the markets and the economy. His job was to take all of the news, information and data on the economy and markets; and filter it into condensed, easily understood research.

Andy provided economic and market briefings to White House, US House, US Senate, the SEC, the Federal Reserve Board and the US Treasury staff on a wide range of issues including extreme market volatility, China's influence on trade, and the impact of technology on the economy.

Today, he has a wide range of clients including agriculture, financial services, energy, manufacturing and construction.

His firm does keynotes, consulting and research helping you learn from the past, to understand the present and see into the future.

Please welcome, Andy Busch!
